

Studies on police discretion during the past 30 years have found that police

- (A) operate with very little discretion
- (B) operate with considerable discretion
- (C) almost always abuse their discretion
- (D) are unable to operate with the power of considerable discretion
- (E) need more discretion to operate properly
- (F) none of the above

The primary skill of policing involves effectively handling problem situations while

- (A) avoiding the use of force
- (B) focusing on order maintenance
- (C) focusing on community service
- (D) focusing on crime prevention
- (E) all of the above
- (F) A and B only
- (G) C and D only

A frequent source of misdirection in a police agency arises because of the difference between

- (A) official and unofficial mission statements
- (B) official and unofficial purposes
- (C) what the community needs and what they say they need
- (D) what the police mission is and what the police budget will support
- (E) none of the above

The two basic roles of the police chief or chief executive are

- (A) manager and leader
- (B) internal and external
- (C) manager and city hall representative
- (D) leader and disciplinarian
- (E) none of the above

Choose those items below that are among the principles of reinventing government. Choose all that apply;

- (A) Government should prevent as well as cure
- (B) Government should reinvent itself at least every few years
- (C) Government should encourage competition rather than monopoly
- (D) Government should realign priorities to match the community they serve
- (E) Government should be mission-driven, not rule-driven
- (F) Government should seek out strong partnerships in the business community
- (G) Government should serve its customers, not its own bureaucracy
- (H) Government should earn money as well as spend it

What type of police analysis "must be tied to the real information needs of the department's decision makers"?

- (A) Operations analysis
- (B) Budget analysis
- (C) Intelligence analysis
- (D) Crime analysis
- (E) none of the above